Building with Dean has been a positive and enjoyable experience with faultless service throughout.

Everything was streamlined and very efficient. The design and build experience has been absolutely superb!

We built a downsizer specifically for us in that we wanted our entire living area including the master bedroom on the ground level. With the in-house architect Helen Marchesani's knowledge and skill, our plan came together seemingly effortlessly.

The assistance from in-house interior designer Joie Stevenson made things even easier and so much better for us.

We don't think we could have made some of our decisions without her help! We would have been totally overwhelmed and so feeling very grateful for that added element which finishes our home to a great standard that we love.

Although a relatively small home, there is a level of detail that required careful consideration in design and supervision.

We cannot speak highly enough of Dave Steenson, our supervisor. He had a relaxed but diligent attitude and we would often see him after the trades had left just wandering around the house checking the fine detail to ensure nothing had been overlooked or to think through potential problems that may arise.

The trades were most competent and always courteous and pleasant to deal with. Often neighbours and people who passed by commented on the clean site and the quiet behaviour of the trades and good traffic management.

The level of perseverance with trades to ensure the Humphrey Homes quality was maintained was ever present.

We are delighted with our home and it is a pleasure to live in a light bright space which flows from indoors to outdoors.

Our best wishes to the team at Humphrey Homes.
